The dream behind starting BM Institute of Engineering & Technology, Sonapat was to have an institute of excellence not only for the minority community but also for the community at large as, though there was no dearth of Engineering & Management Institutes in Haryana, yet the public needed an institute of top class in the district. Such dreams are not easy to translate into reality. A visionary Management, an experienced Principal, not only highly qualified academically, but also with valuable treasure of administrative experience and an adequately qualified and experienced teaching faculty are the minimum basic requirements besides an excellent campus in an idyllic surrounding. Our sincere efforts afforded all this and more. Today the dream stand realized. I congratulate all concerned for this phenomenal progress of the institute. We assure all that our march on the path of success will never slow down.

I congratulate the editorial team of the magazine for bringing out the magazine on time.

‘Culture is the widening of the mind and of the spirit’

- JawaharLal Nehru

For a brighter future and a better tomorrow, giving the right inspiration to impressionable minds from the beginning accelerates the process that transforms them into curious seekers, dreamers and learners. Exploring and improving their skills help them to become more efficient and confident individuals. The emphasis is never merely on acquiring some information; it is more on understanding it, feeling it, experiencing it and visualizing it.

The habit of not giving up, just when your body breaks, your mind starts to give up, and all you want is to collapse and go to sleep.

You decide to pull yourself together and give that one last burst of energy, and ensure that you become a champion.

Cultural activities allow students and community members to come together to connect more deeply with the cultures of the world.

Culture of India indicates the ideas, beliefs, customs, and social behavior of people in the society. It indicates the way people live in the society. Participation in cultural activities influences the development of students in many aspects, such as for entertainment and knowledge. The involvement of students in cultural activities can help them develop a well-rounded education.
